

Congratulations to

Michael Lieberman, PhD

Professor, Department of Molecular Genetics,
Biochemistry and Microbiology

For receiving

The Best Teacher Award

Optime Magistrum

For the course

Fundamentals of Molecular Medicine

---

HONORABLE MENTION

Keith Stringer, MD

OPTIME MAGISTRUM AWARD CRITERIA

This award is presented to the faculty member in a course who exemplifies the following:

- Is thought-provoking and intellectually demanding;
- Relates the course material to other fields, contemporary issues, student experiences;
- Is enthusiastic about teaching;
- Is conscientious, organized, and well-prepared for class;
- Fosters active learning / self-directed learning;
- Is available to students;
- Provides clear expectations, relevant assignments, and ample feedback;
- Presents material clearly, engages students and stimulates participation;
- Is open-minded, fair, and respectful of differences among students;
- Inspires students to excel.

College of Medicine
Office of Medical Education

Congratulations to

Edmund Choi, PhD

Associate Professor, Department of Molecular Genetics,
Biochemistry and Microbiology

For receiving

The Best Teacher Award

Optime Magistrum

For the course

Fundamentals of Cellular Medicine

OPTIME MAGISTRUM AWARD CRITERIA

This award is presented to the faculty member in a course who exemplifies the following:

- Is thought-provoking and intellectually demanding;
- Relates the course material to other fields, contemporary issues, student experiences;
- Is enthusiastic about teaching;
- Is conscientious, organized, and well-prepared for class;
- Fosters active learning / self-directed learning;
- Is available to students;
- Provides clear expectations, relevant assignments, and ample feedback;
- Presents material clearly, engages students and stimulates participation;
- Is open-minded, fair, and respectful of differences among students;
- Inspires students to excel.

College of Medicine
Office of Medical Education

HONORABLE MENTION

Robert Rapoport, PhD

