UC Health Office of Clinical Research. The newly formed Innovation Committee, the Office of Clinical Research, and the research community are prioritizing COVID-19 research. Please complete this REDCap form regarding any potential studies, and contact UCcovidresearch@UCHealth.com for more information or questions.

UC Health Office of Clinical Research EpicCare Link for Remote Monitoring. UC Health is currently not allowing on-site auditing and monitoring visits until further notice. For required study auditing and/or monitoring during this time, UC Health offers remote access to Epic’s EHR through the EpicCare Link platform. Study teams can release research patient records to study monitors within the EpicCare Link platform. Please use this form to request use of Epic Care Link. For assistance with any questions or concerns regarding remote auditing and monitoring, please contact The Office of Clinical Research at research-admin@uchealth.com.

Advice to Graduate Programs During COVID-19 Emergency. Outside of students who are enrolled in courses and will continue to be busy with work, or those deemed research-essential and are continuing critical work in the lab, the Office of Graduate Education offers a list of potential ways to productively engage with students who are currently not able to work in laboratories or fulfill their other assignments.

PPE Donations. We would like to thank all of you who responded to our request for PPE donations. We are amazed and proud of the generosity of our CoM researchers. We know that your donations were plentiful. Unfortunately due to the hectic nature of the times, we were unable to put together an accurate inventory of all the donated PPE supplies.

We ask that you please email Brieanne Sheehan at sheehabe@uc.edu by April 15th with a list of the PPE donations you dropped off at the Dean’s Suite. Once we compile a list of the donations we will report our College of Medicine total impact.
