Finding Mentors for Medical Students.
There are a number of ways for medical students to identify faculty mentors. The UC Research Directory allows users to enter keywords or search UC experts based on last name, grant funding, or type of studies conducted. Additionally, this website, http://med.uc.edu/academicsupport/research/mentors, features faculty profiles and their areas of interest.

Electronic Health Records Data for Research.
Do you need to query or use electronic health records data for current or upcoming studies? The Center for Health Informatics (CHI) is the designated honest broker to access UC Health patient data for research. CHI has just launched a new service portal that can help you get started. For more information please go to the service portal (chi.uc.edu/research).

Graduate Student Research Forum.
This year’s annual Graduate Student Research Forum will be held on Friday, November 15th from 8:30-11:30 am in the CARE and MSB E level public areas. Graduate students will be presenting their work to both scientific as well as non-specialist judges by a combination of poster and oral means so that they get to practice different forms of communication regarding their research. Come by and see the incredible research being performed in our UC CoM graduate programs.

New Clinical Laboratory Research Consultant Role in the OCR.
UC Health Office of Clinical Research is excited to announce that Maggie Powers-Fletcher will be filling the role as Clinical Laboratory Research Consultant. Maggie recently presented at the November First Friday, providing an overview of the research support services provided by the UC Health Clinical Laboratory. If you missed Maggie’s presentation, keep an eye out for the First Friday follow-up email, which will contain the presentation slides and additional information. Maggie can be reached at 513-558-4784 or powersmg@ucmail.uc.edu

Research Development & Support Series on Advanced Budgeting.
The Office of Research is presenting a Research Development & Support Series on Advanced Budgeting on November 18th from 9:30-11:00 am in University Hall, Room 454. This workshop will cover the challenging elements of budgeting, such as distinguishing between subcontractors and consultants, defining capital equipment, determining the MTDC base, and more. Register today!

Content to submit? Click here: https://redcap.research.cchmc.org/surveys/?s=3CX994Y34W