Program/Track

Family Medicine Scholars Program (FMSP)

Synopsis/Background

The Family Medicine Scholars Program is a special 4-year longitudinal curriculum for selected medical students. This track will provide highly motivated students a unique opportunity to engage in preceptor-supervised educational experiences that will expand upon their fund of knowledge and skill set within Family Medicine. The designated students will participate in an array of mentored unique clinical and didactic activities. The FMSP will supplement the required curriculum at UCCOM. The FMSP will support students interested in exploring the different aspects of Family Medicine including ambulatory primary care, sports medicine, pediatrics, obstetrics, inpatient based care, urgent care, geriatrics, etc. There is also a special focus for caring for patients in urban and rural settings.

Goals and Objectives

- Provide mentoring and support to students interested in Family Medicine as a career.
- Increase awareness of the principles of Family Medicine.
- Expose students to the breadth of career options for Family Physicians.
- Facilitate community engagement discussions and opportunities.
- Provide opportunities for clinical based research experiences.
- Increase exposure to caring for patients in urban and rural health settings.

Program Personnel

Program Director: Anisa Shomo, MD

Program Coordinator: Kim Hawkins

Family Physicians from the UC Departments of Family and Community Medicine as well as community family physicians will be included in teaching, mentoring and precepting of the FMSP students.

Financial Support

- Department of Family and Community Medicine
- Urban Health Project for summer experience between M1/M2

- Ohio Academy of Family Physicians' Leroy Rogers Scholarship Fund
- AHEC Rural and Underserved Scholars Track (RUST)

Enrollment/Admission Criteria

Applications are due at the end of September through the centralized Medical Student Scholars Program Application. Applicants will be interviewed in October and official candidate selection and notification will be at the end of October. Up to 6 scholars positions are available. Selection is based on student interest in Family Medicine as a career choice, commitment to community service, and fit within the program. Underrepresented minority students are encouraged to apply.

Application Process

Interested students should complete a Medical Student Scholars Program Application before October 1, 2020 and submit it to Kim Hawkins at hawkinskb@ucmail.uc.edu.

Criteria for Ongoing Participation

Since the FMSP is an optional opportunity with a significant time commitment, all students must remain in good academic standing with the College of Medicine to participate. Students are encouraged to be forthcoming and disclose problems early on with the FMSP director. Student that fall out of good academic standing will be suspended from program activities until academic performance improves. Failure to improve academic performance will result in dismissal from the FMSP program. Professional misconduct will not be tolerated and will result in dismissal from the FMSP program. Students must meet time commitment requirements as laid out in the curriculum section. Students who met all requirements will be designated as a FMSP graduate in the MSPE, receive a Certificate of Completion, and be recognized at the Honors Day Celebration.
