Medical Student Summer Research Fellowships 2021

A program designed to provide salary support for medical students between the 1st and 2nd year to spend 9-10 weeks in pursuit of basic science, patient-oriented, epidemiologic or outcomes research under the mentorship of University of Cincinnati and Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center Faculty.

Sponsored by National Institutes of Health And University of Cincinnati College of Medicine

Mission

The College of Medicine and NIH sponsors (through a mentored medical student research program) a program for students after the 1st year of medical school. The program is designed to expose students to the methods and techniques utilized in biomedical research. The long term goal is to encourage medical students and young physicians to pursue careers in biomedical research.

How Can You Participate?

Interested students choose a mentor and research project based upon their particular interests. Preference is given to projects related to digestive disease, nutrition, diabetes, and kidney disease. Contact with potential mentors is encouraged during December or January. To apply, the student (with the help of his/her proposed mentor) submits a research proposal describing the specific project.

Deadline for submission of proposals:
Friday, February 12, 2021

Final applicants will be notified by:
Friday, March 19, 2021

Proposals are reviewed by the Medical Student Research Committee of the COM and up to 12 students can be funded with salary support up to $6,330 for 9-10 weeks with $500 support for supplies by the NIH grant. An additional 3 students will be funded by the CCTST with a $5,000 stipend.

A list of mentors and previous students can be found in this brochure. For additional information regarding the program including application guidelines, previous students, their projects and mentors, and their research focuses.

2021 Fall Symposium & Awards Banquet (Medical Student Summer Research Program Fellows) Friday, October 15, 2021

The poster presentation is accompanied by a guest lecture given by a nationally renowned physician-scientist. Program participants have an opportunity to meet with this individual informally to discuss science, career decisions, etc. The program concludes with a banquet at which the winning presentations are announced and prizes are awarded.

The top two posters are selected to represent the College at the National Student Research Forum in Galveston, TX in April, 2020.

All photos are from 2019, as this year's program was virtual due to COVID-19 restrictions.
